"DEAF AWARENESS WEEK" OPENS

The Martin Luther King Memorial Library's "Deaf Awareness Week," Dec. 2-6, formally was opened on Tuesday with Robert Davila as guest speaker.

The highlight of the week's observance was the initiation of the Library's telephone teletype service at 12 noon on Dec. 3.

An information booth, mini-lessons in sign language, videotapes, demonstrations of special devices used by hearing impaired persons, tours of the Library and daily storytelling hours for hearing impaired children will be featured this week.

The Martin Luther King Memorial Library is located at 901 G Street, N.W. For more information, contact Molly Raphael at 727-1234.

...AND ONE, TWO, THREE

A special performance by the Maryland Dance Theatre, a dance team from the University of Maryland, will be given in the Auditorium on Saturday evening, Dec. 7, at 8 p.m.

Recently receiving national recognition for its unique dance techniques, the theatre has a repertory which embraces a wide variety of movement styles and theatrical concepts. Tickets for the Cultural Affairs Committee sponsored event are $2 for general admission and $1.50 for students and can be purchased at the door.

ACTION CONFERENCE STRESSES SELF-HELP

Fifty-seven participants from 18 metropolitan communities across the nation attended an Action Conference on Adult Education for the Deaf, Nov. 12-14. Sponsored by the Center for Continuing Education, the conference brought together administrators from schools for the deaf, deaf leaders and active leaders in adult education to form effective teams for planning and implementing educational programs for deaf adults in their own communities.

The last day's activities included the gathering of suggestions for the establishment of a national self-help network of individuals and agencies serving the adult deaf.

Future plans include an annual Action Conference to further extend the Center's services to other communities.

CAID ANNOUNCES CONVENTION THEME

Robert Davila, president-elect of the Convention of American Instructors of the Deaf and program chairman of its 47th Biennial Meeting to be held June 22-27, in Greensboro, N.C., has announced the Convention theme will be "Our Hearing Society - Issues and Trends in the Education of the Deaf."

The program will be subdivided into four topics related to the central theme. The topics and topic coordinators are:

1. "The Learners: Where They Are And How They Got There" - Dr. Barbara Beggs, Director of Preparation Program, Education of the Deaf, Southern Methodist University, Dallas, Texas.
2. "The Learners: Their Needs" - Dr. Edgar Lowell, John Tracy Clinic, 806 W. Adams Blvd., Los Angeles, Ca.
3. "The Learners' Teacher Learns" - Dr. Francis Solano, St. Francis DeSalles School for the Deaf, 260 Eastern Pkwy., Brooklyn, N.Y.
4. "The Learners Participating in A Learning Society" - Dr. Larry Stewart, College of Education, University of Arizona, Tuscon, Ariz.

Persons interested in participating in the presentation of these topics should contact the pertinent coordinators at the above addresses.

Four separate mini-workshops will also be offered with Karl Kirchner as coordinator. To date, two workshop topics have been designated: "Language Development" and "The Use of Total Communication in the Classroom" with Virginia Heidinger and Karl Kirchner as instructors/coordinators. The official CAID program and call for papers will appear in the February issue of the American Annals of the Deaf.
